Georgetown woman cites city transportation lack

By Buddy Adams

"I haven't been to a clinic in three years," said 77-year-old Estha Scoggins on Thursday. "Haven't been downtown more than twice since March when the taxi service went out. I bank by mail, order clothes by mail, have my groceries delivered."

Mrs. Scoggins, of 1707 Main Street, was complaining that Georgetown is short on transportation service.

More specifically, she was unhappy with the van service for the elderly provided by Williamson - Burnet County Opportunities Inc., the local community action agency.

Having heard that the agency was providing transportation for Williamson County elderly with a 12-passenger van, Mrs. Scoggins said she called about three weeks ago "to find out just exactly what the set-up is."

"I talked to some woman, I don't know her name," she continued, "and she gave me the impression that because I am able to pay for transportation, I was ineligible (for the service). They said, not in so many words, that it's for indigents on welfare."

Mrs. Scoggins claims that she and other elderly persons in Georgetown frequently have no way to get to medical centers, food stores, banks, and other facilities, despite the van service, which was formed for that purpose.

"I'M PERFECTLY ABLE and willing to pay for transportation," she said. But there hasn't been any taxi service here since Rawleigh Elliott and the federal government stepped in and cut it off."

To that, Elliott responded, "I think that with one bus, one driver, and $150 a month for gas, it would be a little hard to damage any taxi service here."

Mrs. Scoggins, an off-and-on resident of Georgetown since 1902, explained her situation as follows:

"My right foot has been broken once, my right ankle twice. So I sold my car, as much for a public service as anything else, because I didn't think I could be a safe driver."

"Since the taxi service went out of business, I've been afoot. My hairdresser picks me up on Tuesday for my appointment and brings me back home. And my friends offer to take me to parties. But I usually have no way to get downtown to shop or bank."

"I'm not the sort of person who will impose on friends, so I bank by mail, order my clothes by mail. Thank goodness one grocery store still delivers. Most of my money is going out of Georgetown."

"So I finally swallowed my pride," she continued, "and called to find out exactly what the set-up is with that van service. When I called, they asked me whether I paid taxes and what my income was."

"When I told them, they said, 'Then you're perfectly able to pay for transportation, aren't you?'"

"I said not only able, but perfectly willing. But where am I to get it? They didn't seem to think that was their concern."

"I didn't call Rawleigh Elliott," she said, "because I was afraid I'd cuss him out. I did try Leo Wood, and he of course passed the buck on to everyone else."

"Then I tried Don Hewlett (president of the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce). He said he didn't need a taxi, and hadn't noticed there wasn't one. He didn't seem to think he ought to be concerned."

ELLIOTT, WOOD, AND HEWLETT agreed there might be a need for expanded transportation services in Georgetown, but saw no possibility of immediate relief.

Elliott emphasized that there are no income restrictions on the van service. One need only be 55 or older and able to walk, he said, in order to qualify.

"We have focused most of our programs for the elderly on low-income residents," he explained, "but if Mrs. Scoggins was told her income disqualified her, that was a mistake. It might have been a misunderstanding on the part of our staff if that happened."

According to Elliott, the service is limited by the large area it must cover, namely the entire county, and the fact that only one driver is available for the van, and only 20 hours each week at that.

Elliott says the driver, Julius Young, who works through the Green Thumb public service program, has provided outstanding service.

But the van, funded by the federal government and administered through the Governor's Committee on Aging, must serve Georgetown, Taylor, Granger, Bartlett, and Round Rock in Young's 20 available hours each week.

That's a tight fit, asserts Elliott.

"I'm sure we could probably run the service in Georgetown alone eight hours a day, five days a week," said Elliott, "but we just don't have the resources."

Williamson-Burnet County's records show the van transported 173 passengers during 96 hours of operation in May; 211 passengers over 88 hours of service in June; and 175 passengers during 96 hours operation in July.

AS FOR THE CITY SUBSIDIZING TRANSPORTATION for the elderly, City Manager Leo Wood said, "We really aren't large enough to justify entry into the mass transportation field. A city has to have about 40-50,000 population before that's justified."

Hewlett said the Chamber simply couldn't stir up any interest in a taxi service.

"After I talked with Mrs. Scoggins, we discussed the matter with the Chamber. We tried every way we could to let it be known we needed a taxi service."

"The major obstacle is insurance," Hewlett added. "Plus you've got to have an acceptable car and chauffeurs licenses for your drivers."

GLASSCOCK MANSION — "the perfect old Victorian house."

Georgetown to lose founder's mansion

A Georgetown landmark for longer than SUN readers can remember will be moved.

The old Victorian Glasscock mansion in the south triangle of the Highway 81 and Andice Road intersection has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Taylor of Round Rock and they hope to move it soon to some acreage between Georgetown and Round Rock on FM 1460 and restore it to its original grandeur.

The handsome old house was the home of George Washington Glasscock for whom Georgetown was named when he gave land for the town.

Mrs. Taylor works at the Round Rock Post Office and her husband works for an engineering firm in Austin. Their five year old son is looking forward to playing on the stately old staircase and its banisters.

The sale was handled by Mickey Forest when the Taylors made the purchase from Bob Stanton.

"The house is in remarkably good shape and movers tell us they will take the top off, lay the roof down, jack up the top story, move the first story to its destination, then go back and get the second story and just set it back on," Mrs. Taylor said. "We have been looking for years for the perfect old Victorian house; this is it."

Week's news in a nutshell

IF YOU PLAN A LABOR DAY HIGHWAY TRIP, the Texas Safety Association (TSA), advises at least one stop at one of the nearly 200 Texas Jaycee holiday rest stops.

TSA says such a stop can provide you the "rest of your life," defeating driver problems like highway hypnosis and delayed reaction time.

TAXPAYERS IN THE LEANDER SCHOOL DISTRICT crowded into the Leander High cafeteria Monday night to organize opposition to property revaluations distributed August 15.

After two hours of discussion led by attorney and Leander property owner Jack Garey, the group dubbed itself the "Leander Taxpayers Association," elected a ten-member committee to represent it before the school board, and set up a fund to cover any legal expenses arising from the dispute.

The audience also agreed to press a class-action suit if the Leander trustees cannot reach a compromise agreement with the taxpayers' committee.

WILLIAMSON COUNTY COMMISSIONERS voted Monday to seek a $15,000 grant from the Texas Criminal Justice Council to set up a central dispatch system, even though the system may only service the sheriff's department.

In submitting the original plan for a central dispatch, Jim Boutwell of Boutwell Aviation and Electronics suggested that by consolidating calls to the sheriff's department, city police departments, fire departments and the county ambulance service, tax dollars would be saved.

ENROLLMENT IN THE GEORGETOWN SCHOOL DISTRICT increased 153 students to 2333 on the first day of school, Tuesday, according to Superintendent Jack Frost. Last August, 2180 students enrolled in the district.

Frost described the day as "one of the smoothest opening days ever seen."

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

Friday morning there was a threat of a storm, for two days the area had been favored by heavy showers, early risers feel a definite hint of fall in the air and school is back in motion! I enjoy every change of season except from fall to winter. I like it warm, even hot. In the winter-time I get colds and sore throats.

FORTUNATELY, Central Texas lies in a moderate climate zone, although along about in January this seems debatable to folks here who haven't suffered through long, hard winters up north. I think we have it pretty good right here and wouldn't swap living conditions with many places in this country. I've been to San Francisco only once and confess that I was fascinated by that city and its climate. We were there in mid summer, as I remember, and the air was crisp and cool, but the sunshine was warm and healing. No one had window screens because there weren't any flies or other insects. The place, in fact, seemed ideal, although all this took place about 20 years ago when I was 30 years younger. Things look better when you are 30 years younger.

To enjoy the good life it really doesn't matter too much where one lives. George W. Truett, a Baptist preacher in Dallas, once sermonized: "Do your best, harm no one; read Ecclesiastes, feed the mind, rest the heart; follow and be faithful to that which is good; above all, put your trust in the Man up there." If we could live by those precepts in Dallas or San Francisco we could live by them in Georgetown.

Hair code welcomes students at new GHS

By Beulah Gilbreath

Students at Georgetown High School started classes Tuesday in a new $2.2 million building, but ran "HEAD"-on into the same old battles.

New GHS Principal James Hundley estimated that "only 15 to 20 boys were sent home the first week of school to get their hair cut."

Students claim the number runs higher — 30 to 40 students. The principal declined to give an exact figure.

Hundley said some students were sent home during registration (running the figure up) and others were warned to have their hair cut before school began.

He commented that the policy exists (directed by the school board of trustees) and he strongly believes in enforcing policies.

GHS student Handbook states: "In order to be properly dressed boys must have their hair well groomed. Boys should be clean shaven if at the age of shaving (no mustaches or beards). Extreme hair styles will not be tolerated. Sideburns are to be no longer than the bottom of the ear. Hair should not be completely covering the ear when combed down. The length in back should not be on or below the shoulder at the base of the neck."

One mother said a quarter inch of hair (so that the sensuous earlobe of her son will show) may be the cause of her son transferring to another school district.

"I pay taxes in Georgetown," she said, "why should I also be forced by a ridiculous regulation to pay tuition in order for my son to graduate?"

Her son quipped, "How can girls learn anything with their long hair? Doesn't their hair get in the way when they are trying to work algebra problems?"

Another mother (who said she didn't want her name used because it would only mean more trouble with school administrators for her sons) said that she spent $25 last week to have her two sons hair groomed for school. Both were sent home from school this week. "This is 1975," she commented.

School Board member Dr. Douglas Benold said he was sorry to see the hair code issue come up again this year.

"The issue is a divisive sort of thing," said Dr.

AFTER — With ear lobe in plain view, the same GHS senior was allowed to return to classes.

Benold, who was the only board member who voted last January to eliminate the hair code.

At the December meeting of the school board, then GHS student Council President Johnny McMaster requested that an unlimited hair code be considered.

A poll conducted by the student council last fall determined that 68 percent of the student body favored the unlimited hair code.

At that meeting Dr. Benold said, "All through history women have worn their hair in many different styles such as the bob, the bouffant hairdos, etc. . . Not much was ever said about it.

"Suddenly in the last decade, we have attached some type of morality to the length of men's hair. I just want to go on record as saying that I would like to abolish the hair code. We didn't have any hair code when I was in school and we seemed to get along without it."

He said that his views have not changed. "I'm not a crusader," he commented, "but I will stand up for my principles. I don't think the hair code is worth the confusion it causes." The issue has arisen each year for the past few years.

Newly elected school board member (elected in April after the hair code decision) Clare Mashburn said Friday, "The hair code needs to be revised. I would like to see the student council come up with a dress code that could be enforced. Students should be able to decide the length of their hair."

She said administrators' salaries cost taxpayers too much for principals or assistant principals to spend their time measuring the length of a student's hair.

Mrs. Mashburn said she has received several calls from parents concerned about the hair code. She commented that students sent home were "not all trouble-makers, and some were excellent students who had never been involved in any disciplinary actions before."

School Board member Robert (Skip) Morse said he is in favor of a hair code. "However," he said, "I would be very much open to the students coming to the board with a plan of their own that is maybe more liberal than the present one. I want the students to present logical reasons for

LABOR DAY CLOSINGS

Federal, state, county, and city offices in Georgetown, as well as most businesses, will be closed Monday for Labor Day.

Fire protection, law enforcement, ambulance, and hospital services will be available, however. Some groceries, drug stores, restaurants, and most filling stations in the city will also be open.

The majority of businesses, though, will comply with the Chamber of Commerce request to observe the official national holiday.

The Georgetown Post Office will make no city or rural deliveries, but special deliveries will be mailed.

Daily papers and first-class mail will be boxed and a collection from the mailbox outside the Post Office will be made at 1 p.m. Monday.

The SUN will operate with a skeleton staff Monday to accept news and advertising.

THERE IS WORK TO DO

Are you getting fed up with hearing that the cause of crime is "joblessness" when you can't hire anybody to cut your grass?

ARE YOU GETTING FED UP with federal, state and local government handouts to people who are jobless? While it's next to impossible to hire workers to work?

That's good. Maybe if we stay angry — and vocal — through this next election campaign, rights organizations will stop profiteering on poverty and politicians will stop bleeding taxpayers to support parasites.

Have you any idea the kind of money we have dumped into Chicago's so-called "poverty neighborhoods"? Including your money, wherever you live, hundreds of millions of dollars with no apparent improvement in the situation.

Cab companies have been advertising for cabbdrivers in Chicago for more than a year. And a cabbdriver in Chicago can make upwards of $200 a week.

Yet the headlines continue to quote sociologists who blame "unemployment" for the sickness of the cities.

SUBSIDIZED LAZINESS is the sickness of the cities! And it's worsened by politicians offering more and more something-for-nothing: by workers demanding more and more or they won't work at all; by government agencies and sticky-fingered social service agencies which dearly love to handle all those "government dollars."

Chicago alone has poured more than a billion of your dollars into welfare of one kind or another. And while we talk about it welfare grants are rising.

You can't separate all these welfare handouts from the employment statistics because it's this easy government money which mesmerizes potential workers. After 10 years of welfare handouts in Chicago unemployment has doubled!

Try to hire anybody in any city for housework, for yard work, for the picking-up and sweeping-out jobs. Man, we can't get people to do work-work for $150 a week when they can make more after-taxes dollars than that by not working!

Just as there are jobs for the unskilled almost everywhere, there are jobs for the skilled, also, if they are industrious.

Graduates of Western Texas State University — with a reputation for being good workers — are offered more positions than they can fill.

SOMEBODY HAS TO SOUND OFF on loafers thumbing their noses and shaking their fists at TAXPAYERS.

It's too easy for politicians to purchase another period of peace and quiet by dishing out dollars to blackmailing leaders of some of the so-called "social service" organizations — under threat to riot.

It's as slimy a racket as Capone's ever was — but these Capones have the government on their side!

Bigness Isn't progress

Report from the Georgetown Independent School System that enrollment had increased by 153 students is proof positive that our community continues to grow. This many students indicate the presence of around 50 new families, a comfortable figure for a town our size.

PREDICTIONS THAT GEORGETOWN would have a population in excess of 30,000 by 1985 makes some, but not all, people happy. Growth that rapid would bring profound changes, many of which would be anything but desirable.

On the other hand, a brisk, gradual growth pattern is ideal and we hope the one we now enjoy continues indefinitely. Growth such as we had over the past year would lift the population figure to around 10,000 by 1985, and, as we see it, that would be just fine.

For most of the people living in a community rapid growth is not desirable. In fact, some places of exploding population are attempting to stem the tide. One state, in fact, is asking people to vacation there but "go home in two weeks." A California city of 30,000 — Petaluma — recently attracted national attention by winning a court decision on its rule limiting its growth to 500 new family housing units per year. Petaluma's victory has implications ranging far beyond its own borders. The court decision may encourage other suburban communities to set similar limits on their own building pace — taking care, of course, to use a reasonable standard of growth.

NOT LONG AGO progress was measured, to a very great degree, in terms of size. "If it was bigger it has to be better." Now, as if in reflection, people are turning from that concept and arguing that growth has little value in measuring the quality of life, which is the top priority. Georgetown, with a population of 15,000 ten or fifteen years from now, might not be the same pleasant place it was in 1960 when it had 6,000. On the other hand, it would be uncomfortable to live in Georgetown in 1985 if its population had dropped to 4,000. Morale would be low, services would be down, jobs would be scarce, wages and profits would be lower.

So, we do want growth but we are selfish enough to want it in the proper doses! Which seems to be what we are getting these days, making most of us healthy and happy.

A world new deal?

It can no longer be delayed. The industrial nations must confront the challenge of how to meet the rising demands of the "third world" for a better economic deal.

The drive of the poor nations for a so-called "new international economic order" is beginning to crank up in earnest. Nearly 80 "nonaligned" nations are meeting now in Lima, Peru, to coordinate attitudes for a United Nations session on economic development beginning Sept. 1. Later will come trade negotiations in Geneva and a resumed meeting of oil consumers and producers in Paris.

Will the United States and other industrial nations go into these forums with well-thought-out creative approaches? Or will they let the problems drift to a point of ugly conflict — as they have done until now?

The impatience of the third world grows with each day. The World Bank has just reported that one billion people in the poor countries did not increase their standard of living this past year, and for the rest of the decade their real income will grow less than 1 percent annually. Almost 650 million people have annual incomes of $50 or less.

It is such figures that make the third-world countries determined to change the relationship between the rich and the poor. They believe the rich have accumulated (and wasted) their wealth at the expense of the poor. As they try to modernize their economies, they want a voice in international economic decisionmaking.

Among their demands are curbs on multinational corporations, means of controlling foreign investments, higher prices for raw materials, better terms of trade, and financial and technological aid.

On the latter score, the rich countries, including the oil producers, are doing somewhat better than in the past. The World Bank also reports that aid from the industrial nations rose by 21 percent in the year ending June 30, making "the first significant reversal in the downward trend observed so far in the 1970s." At the same time it warns that the rise was "very little in real terms" because of inflation. Obviously much more needs to be done.

But what is perhaps needed most is a shift from aid to trade. As the bank indicates, the rich countries must liberalize their trade policies so that the poor nations can export more manufactured goods to them and earn more for their economic development. If tariffs against primary products are dismantled, it adds, the poor countries could earn half of the additional foreign exchange they need by 1980 to boost their growth rate to 6 percent.

The logic of such a course is inescapable. The industrial nations, which have long preached free enterprise, must be willing to accept the growing competition from the poor nations in manufactured goods while they shift to specializing in more sophisticated products which the poor countries cannot produce.

It is far from clear what positions the U.S. and other industrial nations will adopt on these and other complex issues. There is some encouragement in the fact that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has yielded to the developing nations and agreed to broaden the oil conference to discuss trade, raw materials, and possibly monetary reforms.

But it is not yet certain to what extent Washington is prepared to bargain on these matters and to move toward a whole new set of North-South relationships. In any event, the secretary will have an opportunity at the UN next week to set the kind of tone that will enable the rich and the poor to meet in a spirit of constructive negotiation rather than confrontation.

Become involved

A burglar wrapped a broom in a towel and smashed a plate glass window of a Chicago jewelry store.

As hundreds of persons walked by on the busy street and others stood in line waiting for movie tickets, the burglar crawled through the broken door and started gathering up the jewelry.

Inside the store an alarm went off, summoning police. They arrived in time to catch the thief and cart him off to the slammer. But they were summoned only by the automatic alarm — not by a single telephone call from the observers. Neither did a solitary person attempt to corral the thief.

With an exploding crime rate and with 45 percent of the urban population saying they are afraid to walk the streets nearest their home at night, we have reached a state of emergency.

If the country — this city — is ever able to reverse this frightening and disgraceful criminal takeover, it will be through citizen involvement. We shall have to shed our anonymity and attack crime where it is happening — in the streets and in our homes. We shall need to organize "Neighborhood watches" or whatever type of co-operative efforts are needed.

The fact is this crime wave is gnawing at the vitals of civilization itself. If we wish to preserve a law-abiding society, we have no choice except to make our stand. — The Indianapolis News

Wallace Raring to Go

WASHINGTON -- Sources close to George Wallace have told us it is a virtual certainty that the Alabama Governor will make a run for the presidency as a third-party candidate.

He is geared up and raring to go, these insiders claim. Only a severe physical setback would keep him out of the 1976 Presidential sweepstakes.

Wallace will make an appearance at the Democratic convention, say our sources, and attempt to win the nomination. He might even accept the number-two spot. But he fully realizes his chances of winning are remote.

Therefore, he will take full advantage of the Democratic spotlight, posing throughout the convention as the hero of the "common man" opposed by the "party bosses." Then he will announce he is forming a third-party ticket.

Political experts who have been watching the Wallace effort closely say he will run a strong race. Wallace himself is said to be showing confidence.

Regular party leaders have been courting him assiduously, and this, he believes, has given him a new respectability. He also feels he will win a large sympathy vote because of his brush with death at the hands of a would-be assassin. He sees himself as another Franklin Roosevelt, who won elections in a wheelchair.

The Democratic Party chiefs, on the other hand, think Wallace's poor health will work against him. Roosevelt, our sources point out, had to deal only with radio. Wallace, they feel, will be unable to hide his helplessness from the television cameras.

President Ford, meanwhile, is more worried about Wallace than any of his other opponents. White House sources say the President fears the Alabama Governor would attract thousands of blue-collar workers who would otherwise vote for the Ford ticket.

Testing Detente: The crisis in Portugal could well become the first real test of detente between Russia and the United States.

Portugal is virtually in a state of civil war. The military junta, in cahoots with the Portuguese Communist party, would like to establish a Communist state.

The Portuguese people, on the other hand, are largely Catholic and conservative. In elections last April, only 125 per cent of the voters supported the Communists. In recent weeks, the supporters of democracy have burned Communist offices.

All of this leaves Moscow in a quandary. The Portuguese Communist organization is the most pro-Soviet party in western Europe. The Kremlin, therefore, would like to see the Portuguese comrades take over Lisbon.

However, the Soviets are pursuing a policy of relaxation with the West. They just signed a document in Helsinki which promised peaceful cooperation with the United States, Canada and western Europe.

What, then, will the Soviets do in Portugal? American intelligence analysts believe the Kremlin has worked out a two-track policy. For the record, they are keeping hands off in Portugal. Stories leaked out of the Kremlin suggest the Russians have told the Portuguese Communists to cool their revolutionary ardor.

But behind the scenes, the KGB and Cuban Communists are quietly working in Lisbon to help their Portuguese colleagues.

Helping Hand: The Federal Elections Commission, created in the wake of Watergate to police tough new campaign laws, has given the green light to enterprising congressmen to amass large slush funds before such practices are formally forbidden.

The commission recently sent Congress a set of proposed regulations that would open to the public those secret little accounts some legislators maintain to pay for travel, newsletters, and the like.

At the same time, the commission privately advised the lawmakers not to make any slush-fund disclosures until the regulations become effective.

To some congressmen, that is an open invitation to get it while they can. Prisoner Swap?: Cuban Premier Fidel Castro recently expressed an interest in the four Puerto Rican terrorists who shot up the House of Representatives 21 years ago.

The Puerto Rican assailants are still in prison in the United States. Castro's concern for them surfaced in conversations with Sen. George McGovern, who recently traveled to Cuba.

On behalf of the State Department, McGovern asked Castro to release eight American "political prisoners" now in Cuban jails. According to our sources, some of these men are CIA agents and veterans of the Bay of Pigs invasion.

In response to McGovern's inquiries, Castro offered to swap his prisoners for the four Puerto Rican terrorists. The State Department has given no sign it is interested in such a deal.

A Fidel Funny: The exchange between George McGovern and the Cuban premier also revealed Castro's sense of humor. When McGovern asked for the release of the eight Americans, Castro replied with a question. "You want all of them?" he asked.

"Yes," replied a puzzled McGovern. "All of them."

"Well," the Bearded One responded, "If I give all of them to you, what will I have left when Sen. Kennedy comes?"

Singers to audition for Centex chorale

Following a successful 1974-75 season, the Central Texas Chorale, a mixed chorus formed in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University last year, will again offer an opportunity for singers in the area to join this choral organization. Undergraduate credit will be allowed for members.

Auditions, including the singing of a prepared piece of the singer's choice, are scheduled for Sept. 6 from 2:00-6:00 p. m. in the Killeen high school choir room and Sept. 7 from 2:00-6:00 p. m. in the Recital Hall of the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center at Southwestern University. An accompanist will be available for the auditions. The singer should list choral works and solo roles performed in the past.

MEAT SECTION VITAL TO SUPERMARKETS — Meats provide a low profit margin for supermarkets, but they are important to the supermarket's total business. Meat departments attract and keep customers, contends a marketing and food distribution specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Consumers place high importance on the quality and freshness of meats, and about 85 per cent of all meats are sold through supermarkets. If a supermarket loses the consumers' meat dollar, it may well lose the rest of the grocery dollar, too.

TEXAS TOPS IN FARMLAND OWNERS — Texas boasts more farmland owners than any other state in the nation, says an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas has 267,000 of the 3.3 million farmland owners in the United States. The next leading states are Iowa and Illinois. Texas also leads in the number of nonfarm land owners, or landlords who lease their land to others, with 87,500. Individual Texas land holdings by both farmers and non-farmers average 584 acres compared to 320 acres for the national average.

The group will be performing classic choral literature, including works of Brahms, Handel, Mozart, and others. Kenny Sheppard of the music faculty in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University is the conductor of the choral organization. Nick Boltz, choral director in Killeen high school, is associate conductor. Dr. Ellsworth Peterson of the music faculty at Southwestern University is accompanist and also conducts an in-depth study of works to be performed.

Regular rehearsals are held from 7:00-9:30 on Monday evenings in the Recital Hall in the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center at Southwestern University. The first rehearsal is scheduled for Sept. 8 with the initial fall concerts booked for Oct. 26 in Killeen and Oct. 27 at Southwestern University. Other concert dates will be announced later.

For auditions in Killeen, contact Nick Boltz (phones 817/699-5518 or 817/699-0392) and in Georgetown the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University (512/863-6511, ext. 329).

People who like to sing are encouraged to join the Central Texas Chorale, a choral organization of approximately 50 singers from the central Texas area.

Governor's First Lady organizes volunteers

Governor Dolph Briscoe has appointed Mrs. Jean Beasley of Austin as a regional volunteer coordinator for the First Lady's Volunteer Program. Office of the Governor. Mrs. Beasley will serve the geographic area covered by the Capital Area Planning Council.

In making the appointment, Governor Briscoe said, "The spirit of volunteerism is growing in Texas as more and more people seek ways to improve our society and the quality of life. When people see a need, they organize to solve the problem."

"The First Lady's Volunteer Program is encouraging statewide citizen participation in both government and private sector volunteer activities. As a regional coordinator, Mrs. Beasley will help stimulate new volunteer ideas and efforts in her community. She will also encourage the establishment of locally originated volunteer action centers to work with volunteer programs," Governor Briscoe added.

"Mrs. Briscoe and I are deeply committed to this volunteer effort and see many benefits from such neighbor helping neighbor involvement. Janey has agreed to work directly with this program in her capacity as First Lady," the Governor concluded.

In accepting the appointment Mrs. Beasley stated, "I am excited about the potential of this volunteer program. I am anxious to work with other interested people in my region on volunteer programs and look forward to working with Texas' First Lady."

As a volunteer, Mrs. Beasley has served as a member of the National Polio Foundation Board of Directors, the vice president of the Austin Council for Retarded Children, director of the Community Council Volunteer Bureau and co-director of the Hotline for Help. She is one of three Texans who serve as volunteer consultant for the National Center on Voluntary Action.

The First Lady's Volunteer

Program, a division of the Texas Center for Volunteer Action, is working with the Texas Department of Health Resources in planning a statewide health educational program for October. Designated as Immunization Action Month, volunteers will be mobilized to make all Texans aware of the need to be periodically reimmunized against polio, measles, mumps, rubella, diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough.

The First Lady's Volunteer Program conducted a pilot health project in the Lower Rio Grande Valley for the immunization of preschool age children. The Health Department reported more than 15,000 immunizations were given during the April, 1975, project period.

This division of the Governor's Office also is responsible for administering the national runaway hotline — Operation Peace of Mind — located in Houston. The hotline allows a runaway to call toll-free from anywhere in the United States and have a message relayed to anxious parents.

The Texas Center for Volunteer Action offices are located in Austin.

Baseball practice begins for Pirates

Baseball is a year-around affair at Southwestern University, and with spikes barely dusted off from last season Coach Jim Mallon is getting ready for an autumn practice season of seven games.

Mallon has much of the returning team that won 30 games and broke several records including hitting a team average of .308 and hitting an average of a home run per game — 48 — which was second in the nation among NAIA teams.

He will also have at least 10 newcomers trying out for a place on the Pirate team that finished second in Big State League play last year a half game behind Texas Lutheran College.

Among those Mallon has signed are:

—Gene Lawhon, an infielder from Georgetown, whom Mallon rates high defensively.

—Tim McKenzie, an outfielder from Dulles High in Houston.

—Steve Wendland, a right handed pitcher who had a 7-1 record at Wharton County Junior College last year.

—Ricky Tobalka, right handed pitcher from Concordia Junior College, 6-5 and 220 lb.

—Ricky Gravens, infielder from Abilene.

—Lane Holstrom, left handed pitcher from Austin, a transfer from the Univ. of Texas.

—David Stiba, second team all state selection at shortstop for Taylor High School last

—Tim Rieg, an Austin Lanier product who can play first base or outfield.

—Bob Leonard, catcher from Athens with good throwing arm.

—Noel Seal, right handed pitcher from Alvin Junior College where he struck out more than one man per inning and had a 1.20 earned run average.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

PICK THE WINNERS AND WIN A PRIZE

Here's How You Play:

HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November. So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $5, $3 or $1 for first, second or third respectively.
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at THE SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game.

Games This Week

Put an 'X' in the parenthesis in front of the team which you think will win that game.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

Our community received an inestimable amount of good publicity from our Fourth of July Festivities, as was evidenced by the fact that the name of Liberty Hill was readily recognized by everyone at The Blackeye Pea Festival in Athens the first week-end of August — many people voiced a desire and intent to come to our town! The Liberty Hill MARKET DAY, for which we proudly salute Ellis Posey, was held in its premier on the weekend of the Athens Affair, and it is very definitely doing great things for our community. I was glad to learn, a bit late, that Mary Cupples, a very good friend from over Andice way, and her Aunt were among the throng at the first Market Day. Mary was very impressed and pleased by the whole proceedings, and she particularly enjoyed visiting with Debbie Martin in the Liberty Hill Feed and Seed, and Rae Patton and Anita Farr in the Main Street Emporium.

The next Liberty Hill MARKET DAY will be staged on Saturday, September 6, and judging by the reception of the first one and the fact that the booths were going fast at an early date, we can expect another rousing success. Anyone who wishes additional information about Liberty Hill Market Day should consult Ellis Posey, Publisher of The Libertarian, at Liberty Hill. You can be assured that you will be enthusiastically WELCOMED in Liberty Hill — DO COME!

The Staff of Liberty Hill Elementary and Liberty Hill High School is now at a total of twenty-four Teachers who hold twenty-four Bachelors Degrees from fifteen different Institutions and seven Master's Degrees from five different Institutions; their total experience is an impressive two hundred and twenty-three years. The Staff of the Liberty Hill Elementary School includes Betty Allison, Charlene Burkett, Betty Carothers, Pat Colias, Sandy Cooper, Ann Hamilton, Louise Marcom, Louine Noble, Ann Sikes, Lorena Simpson, Martha Sledge, and Bobbie Yahr. The Junior and Senior High School Staff includes Michealle Able, Robert Bost, Kathy Burttschell, Eugene Buchhorn, George Dieck, Melvina Floyd, Rhanae Hoppe, Daryl Moffitt, George Prestidge, Sam Sikes, Robert Simpson and Marcella Zumwalt.

James (Bud) Perry is the Superintendent of Liberty Hill Schools, Eugene Buchhorn is the Principal of Liberty Hill High School, and Louine Noble is the Principal of Liberty Hill Elementary School. The total enrollment in the Liberty Hill School as of August 27 stood at 397 students. Liberty Hill most undeniably has a very fine school system with a well qualified Staff of which we can all be quite proud. If you haven't visited our school recently, you should do so. I think that you too will be impressed by our school system.

MONDAY, September 1, is LABOR DAY and is a HOLIDAY for Liberty Hill School. The MENU of the Liberty Hill Cafeteria for the week of September 2, through September 5, will be as follows: Tuesday — Chicken dumplings, English peas, carrots, Jello, and milk; Wednesday — Enchiladas, salad, pinto beans, peaches, and milk; Thursday — Bar-B-Que on a Bun, salad, potato chips, brownies, and milk; Friday — Roast with gravy, potatoes, green beans, cherry cobbler, and milk.

Doug Bobbitt, his brother and his Dad are now living in Liberty Hill, and Doug and his brother are attending school here. Doug is a longtime friend of Yours Truly, and it's good to have him and his family in Liberty Hill.

The Panther Booster Club will have a booth at The Liberty Hill Market Day on September 6. Homemade Ice Cream, homemade Jams and Jellies and various other items will be for sale by the Panther Boosters.

Anyone who has any of this type things to donate to the Panther Booster Club should contact Mary Ann McLeod, Betty Brown or Jackie Weston — certainly, ALL DONATIONS will be deeply appreciated, and all of the proceeds will go toward paying for our fine new tennis courts at the school. We are proud to announce that the nets are up and the boundaries are marked off. The next item to be purchased is the fencing that will be used for the back stops. As soon as the fencing has been acquired, "We will need a bunch of volunteers to help put it up." Watch the Williamson County SUN for an announcement of the time when the work will be done.

The Panther Booster Club will have its next meeting at the school house on September 4, at seven o'clock in the evening. We URGE YOU "BE THERE!"

It is really good have Louine Noble, our Elementary School Principal, as a new member of "THE SUN FAMILY" — thank you, Louine, for joining us.

Monday, September 1, is Labor Day, traditionally considered to be Summer's last holiday. We URGE YOU to have a good time, but above all we URGE YOU to BE CAREFUL and don't be a statistic!

KEEP SMILING!

Community Theater casting for 'Catch Me If You Can', new mystery production

A mystery, Catch Me If You Can by Jack Weinstock and Willie Gilbert is the frustrated Columbo's answer to boredom — and will be Georgetown Area Community Theater's next production.

Who is needed in the cast? Five men — a handsome, debonair 'ad man' in his early to mid-30's, high-strung and apprehensive about his wife; a devil-may-care detective who is Peter Gunn, Sam Spade and Columbo rolled into one; a questionable Catholic father, a well preserved 50-55 years old emitting calm like perfume; a deli owner of undetermined age who holds business above everything, including his own life; an 'older' ad man whose morals could be questioned by his real wife's lawyer.

Three women — a red-headed

'walk-on' who's there but not there; a beautiful blonde who's more interested in her weekend than murder; and a knock-out of a lady in her late 20's or early 30's, the outdoors type who's soft on the outside and hard as nails inside. Also needed are a stage manager, light crew, prop person, costume coordinator, set crew, house manager, box office personnel, a reservationist and no telling who else.

Tryouts will be held September 1, 2 and 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Georgetown Area Community Theater at 601

Austin Ave. Rehearsals will begin September 8 with the production running October 9, 10, 11 and 16, 17, 18. Those who can help or act, please come to tryouts or call director Karen Stevens at 863-2888.

James W. Brinson, Robert McKissick, Larry D. Presler, L. B. Wade, Edwin C. Vinther and Emmett A. Jones.

The Association also set up a fund to cover any legal expenses resulting from its actions. Tom Nelson Jr. was designated to receive checks, payable to the Association, at his address.

Nelson said Tuesday he wasn't sure how much money had come in, but that some checks had already been received.

Leander steering committee elected

Following is the list of ten persons elected Monday night to represent the Leander Taxpayers Association before the Leander board of school trustees.

The group will try to resolve a conflict involving high valuations placed on property in the school district by a reappraisal.

Leander Taxpayers Association members include: Jack Garey, Chairman; Tom W. Schulze, Tom E. Nelson, Jr., Clara Hall, Shirley Boyd,

Urban Renewal to ask rezoning

Rezoning of two lots at Eighth and Timber streets will be requested by Georgetown's Urban Renewal Agency at two public hearings in September.

The agency will seek to have lots one and two in Block One of the South San Gabriel Urban Renewal Project changed from single-family residential to public use areas.

Hearings will be held by the city Planning and Zoning Commission at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and before the City Council's regular meeting September 8.

"The city wants to purchase the lots and place a new Neighborhood Center, city offices, and city warehouse parking space on them," explained Urban Renewal Executive Director Rodney Montgomery. "It's a good use of the lots," he commented, "and a fence would be placed along the western boundaries to protect single-family residences west of the lots."

UT HONOR ROLL

These include, from this area, Karen Ann Lundquist of Georgetown, Timothy R. Mossman of Leander, Buddy Adams of Georgetown, Linda Petrosky Simonson of Georgetown, June Brownlee Scogin of Leander and Treila LaTrelle Krueger of Hutto.

SAFE AND SECURE

How confidently he sleeps. Mother and Daddy are in the next room. Teddy Bear is right beside him.

We, also, desire a feeling of confident security. We want to do good and live with honor in this life, free of the fear of falling into sin. God wants this for us, too. And He sees and knows how hard we try.

In the New Testament, Jude writes, "God is able to keep you from failing, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy."

Pledge yourself to Him and attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

BY MRS. MARY BARRINGTON

We have had one and a half inches of rain this week. It was really getting dry but farmers didn't want it to rain. They were really getting cotton out. Some of the cotton is making a bale or more to the acre. The Jonah Gin was going day and night.

Don't forget the Robbins-Barrington reunion this Sunday August 31 at Stone Haven Center in Georgetown. Come and bring a basket lunch. See you there!!

Sgt. Robert Gibson of Alaska has been home recently. He is in the Navy and has been attending school in San Antonio. He returned home last Thursday and Frank Adair went home with him.

Mrs. Frances Brown and Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Holmstrom spent last Sunday in New Sweden and had lunch with their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lundgren.

Friends gathered to help Miss Margaret Johnson celebrate her birthday last Sunday night. Harwin Holmstrom's doctor from New Orleans, La. came to see him last weekend. Can you hear that? We are glad to hear Harwin is doing fine.

Don't know what went with the summer, and children are all back at school.

Doug Gattis is on the sick list. Mrs. Clint Hanson and Mrs. Raymond Pavlones spent Wednesday at St. David's Hospital to be with Jimmy Coffman who underwent surgery.

I am surely going to miss Runelle Baker and Mrs. Gilbreath from the SON office. Good Luck to them!

Have a Happy and Safe weekend.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
"But if anyone has the world's goods and sees his brother in need yet closes his heart against him, how does God's love abide in him?"

(1st letter of John 3, 17)

and teaching summer music courses at the university.

Sheppard has served as guest clinician - conductor in several choral festivals and has done extensive choral and solo judging. A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University with the Bachelor of Music degree and Texas Tech University with the Master of Music Education,

S.U. names admissions counselor

Becky Gilliland has been named admissions counselor for Southwestern University, Grady Anderson, director of admissions, announced this week.

Miss Gilliland has just completed an "Admissions Practicum" at Trinity University and has already started work at Southwestern in building a freshman class for next year.

A graduate of Texas Tech, Miss Gilliland spent several months touring Europe last year and teaching school in San Antonio before accepting the post at Southwestern.

At Tech she majored in physical education and was a member of the varsity swim team and instructed swimming at the university and also participated in a number of intramural sports. She was also a volunteer in special education.

"This is a beautiful school with a lot to offer," Miss Gilliland says. "I love the beauty of the old buildings and how personable everybody is. I can hardly wait until the students get here so I can see how it all fits together."

In her position at Southwestern, Miss Gilliland will be traveling to many parts of Texas and neighboring states to visit high schools, churches, and families to inform prospective college students about what Southwestern University at Georgetown has to offer.

Betty Crocker scholarships available

College scholarships from $50 to $5,000 are available to all high school seniors through the Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living, now under way in its 2nd year.

Invitations to enroll in the program have been mailed to high schools across the nation. Schools new to the program may write the Betty Crocker Search, P. O. Box 11112, Minneapolis, Minn. 55440, for information.

Enrollment deadline is October 31, 1975.

On Tuesday, Dec. 2, each participating school will administer a 30-minute written examination. Prepared and scored by Science Research Associates, Inc., Chicago, this general knowledge and attitude examination is the first important step of the scholarship program.

From the examination results a Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow will be chosen for each participating school.

I.C.A. schedules brucellosis hearing

There have been hearings held all over the state of Texas on the brucellosis problem and the final statewide hearing will be held on September 4, 1975 in Austin, Texas at the Sam Houston Building, Room 117 at 9:00 a.m.

The Independent Cattlemen's Association's Brucellosis Committee will be at this meeting. The State I.C.A. office feels that every county should be well represented at this meeting as this is a very important meeting to all cattlemen in the state of Texas as to what happens in the future on this program. Now is the time for county members to show their interest if they intend for I.C.A. to have a voice in what happens on the State and National levels. A good representation will be needed with a goal of at least 1,000 people there representing I.C.A.

Williamson County members are urged to do their part in attending and helping solve the problem.

Following this state meeting, there will be a meeting on November 1 of the National Animal Health Association and they will make the overall decisions.

INDOOR GARDENS FOR VEGETABLES — A variety of vegetables can be grown indoors by those who want to escape the hot summer weather and inclement weather that is sure to come in the months ahead. Among the most popular indoor vegetables are chives, parsley, peppers, tomatoes, leaf lettuce and radishes, says a vegetable specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Basic requirements for indoor gardening include suitable containers with good drainage, a good fertile soil mix, adequate water and a location with sufficient light for plant growth. Watering plants occasionally with a diluted fertilizer solution boosts production.

ENVIRONMENT AFFECTS COTTON FLEAHOPPERS — How and when fleahoppers affect cotton plants apparently depends on the age of the plant and soil moisture conditions, believe researchers with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. The fleahopper is one of the most destructive cotton insects, one insect per plant can cause stunting during the four-to-six-leaf stage.

Meeting reaction varies

Reaction to escalation of property values in the Leander Independent School District ranged from calm optimism to outrage over the situation after the Monday night meeting of the "Leander Taxpayers Association."

Property holders protesting the recent reappraisal of the district, which attorney Jack Garey says raised individual valuations 10 to 25 times in some cases, filled the Leander High School cafeteria to discuss their plight.

The discussion continued vigorously even after the meeting officially ended.

"People here are mostly farmers, mechanics, workers," said MRS. RON JOINER, who explained her mother is a Leander property owner. "They just can't afford to pay the kind of money this revaluation would demand."

MRS. JIM BRENSON, whose husband was elected to serve on the Association's steering committee, commented, "We just bought a tract of land near Round Mountain Road for $4,000. You know what they valued it at? Eight thousand dollars. Can you believe that, $8000?"

BERNICE GIDDENS, on the other hand, didn't seem very excited.

"I think a solution can be worked out, and I think the best solution would be a compromise," remarked Giddens, who said he owns about 350 ranch acres in the district and traveled from Mexia to attend the meeting.

HAROLD PARKER, who also attended the meeting, was asked about his suggestion that the taxpayers could probably arrange to have the reappraisal, done by Professional Appraisal Company of Arlington, dismissed.

"Well, we did it when I was on the Georgetown school board," he said, "and not a word was said about it, because they knew they were wrong."

a change in the present code."

Dr. Benold who wears a short hair style, said he sees the whole thing as a part of the generation gap. "A majority of young people want to wear their hair longer than a majority of the school board members want to allow them to wear it," he said in summary.

Principal Hundley said he was satisfied with the current policies. When questioned, he said that Levelland High School, where he was assistant principal last year, abolished its hair code in 1970.

Rural water line ready for service

Phase Two of the Jonah Water Supply Corporation's rural distribution system has been completed and is ready for service, Corporation manager Brad Henry announced Monday.

Henry said the system, including approximately 100 miles of pipeline north of the San Gabriel River, was approved by the state health department during the past weekend.

Water will be pumped from two wells to about 215 Corporation members in the Walburg-Weir area, Granger, and Bartlett.

One of the wells is located three miles south of Georgetown along the Hutto Road, the other at Walburg.

Corporation president Carl Lidell said Jonah Water Supply is a cooperative association, and explained that customers must become members of the Corporation.

"We hope eventually to connect with Jarrell and Schwertner too, and we'd like to hook up with Georgetown so there will always be a backup system if anyone's water supply fails," said Lidell.

Phase Two of the pipeline project required eight months and $945,000 to complete.

During the first phase, 125 miles of pipe was installed in the southern part of the county.

The completed distribution system is expected to serve 625-650 Corporation members.

Leander school board hears enrollment reports

Leander school trustees were told Thursday night that Ada Mae Faubion elementary school, the district's new "open-concept" facility, has already enrolled 30 more pupils than it was built to accommodate.

Principal Travis Henry reported to the school board at its regular meeting that Faubion had 530 enrollment in grades K-6, with the school designed for 500 capacity.

Leander Elementary reported a 479 enrollment, and Leander High had 673 students.

The trustees approved amendment of the 1974-75 school budget to show expenditures totalling $2,176,602. Last year's budget estimate had set at $2,009,165.

Leander business manager John Thurman said the major additional expenditure was $160,000 in construction costs, to be paid through bonds.

Fritz Schuetzberg, transportation and maintenance director, reported to the trustees that 14 school buses are operating, and all air conditioning and lighting in school buildings are functioning. Schuetzberg also said that bleachers alongside the Leander football field had been repaired.

In other action, the board heard a letter of thanks from Mrs. Ada Mae Faubion for its part in the establishment of the school named for her, and Supt. Dr. Jack Warner reported that the Leander marching band had increased from 32 members last year to 82 for 1975-76.

After executive session, the board voted to hire 18 bus drivers, six custodial employees, a mechanic's helper for the transportation department, and two employees for the maintenance department.

S. U. expects 915 students

A record enrollment of more than 900 is expected as Southwestern University at Georgetown begins its 136th year this week.

Registration will be held Tuesday, Sept. 2, and classes begin Wednesday in the state's oldest chartered university.

Director of Admissions Grady Anderson expects the total enrollment to reach about 915 with a freshman class of about 275. "It looks like we have a good class coming," Anderson said.

Faculty members started work this weekend with a faculty workshop Saturday morning with a continuing session for new faculty members that afternoon.

A number of student leaders have also been on campus preparing for the new school year. Residential dorm advisors attended a two-day workshop Thursday and Friday.

Fourteen newcomers to the faculty and staff for the coming year include David Connelly, director of men's housing; John Edwards, head basketball coach; David Everett, art instructor; Dr. Karen Beth Fiser, assistant professor of philosophy; and Miss Rebecca Gilliland and Miss Joy Sloan, admissions counselors.

Also Miss Jaime Gray, director of student activities; Dr. T. Walter Herbert, holder of the Herman Brown Chair in English; Dr. B. F. Jackson, Jr., head librarian; Dr. Norton Marks, professor of economics and business administration; Glade Carol Munt, women's physical education; and Dr. Robert Norris, assistant professor of Spanish.

Also Dr. Francis O'Brien, holder of the John Goodwin Tower Chair of Political Science; and Mrs. Barbara Thomas, voice instructor.

Georgetown woman cites city transportation lack

By Buddy Adams

"I haven't been to a clinic in three years," said 77-year-old Estha Scoggins on Thursday. "Haven't been downtown more than twice since March when the taxi service went out. I bank by mail, order clothes by mail, have my groceries delivered."

Mrs. Scoggins, of 1707 Main Street, was complaining that Georgetown is short on transportation service.

More specifically, she was unhappy with the van service for the elderly provided by Williamson-Burnet County Opportunities Inc., the local community action agency.

Having heard that the agency was providing transportation for Williamson County elderly with a 12-passenger van, Mrs. Scoggins said she called about three weeks ago "to find out just exactly what the set-up is."

"I talked to some woman, I don't know her name," she continued, "and she gave me the impression that because I am able to pay for transportation, I was ineligible (for the service). They said, not in so many words, that it's for indigents on welfare."

Mrs. Scoggins claims that she and other elderly persons in Georgetown frequently have no way to get to medical centers, food stores, banks, and other facilities, despite the van service, which was formed for that purpose.

"I'M PERFECTLY ABLE and willing to pay for transportation," she said. But there hasn't been any taxi service here since Rawleigh Elliott and the federal government stepped in and cut it off."

To that, Elliott responded, "I think that with one bus, one driver, and $150 a month for gas, it would be a little hard to damage any taxi service here."

Mrs. Scoggins, an off-and-on resident of Georgetown since 1902, explained her situation as follows:

"My right foot has been broken once, my right ankle twice. So I sold my car, as much for a public service as anything else, because I didn't think I could be a safe driver."

"Since the taxi service went out of business, I've been afoot. My hairdresser picks me up on Tuesday for my appointment and brings me back home. And my friends offer to take me to parties. But I usually have no way to get downtown to shop or bank."

"I'm not the sort of person who will impose on friends, so I bank by mail, order my clothes by mail. Thank goodness one grocery store still delivers. Most of my money is going out of Georgetown."

"So I finally swallowed my pride," she continued, "and called to find out exactly what the set-up is with that van service. When I called, they asked me whether I paid taxes and what my income was."

"When I told them, they said, 'Then you're perfectly able to pay for transportation, aren't you?'"

"I said not only able, but perfectly willing. But where am I to get it? They didn't seem to think that was their concern."

"I didn't call Rawleigh Elliott," she said, "because I was afraid I'd cuss him out. I did try Leo Wood, and he of course passed the buck on to everyone else."

"Then I tried Don Hewlett (president of the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce). He said he didn't need a taxi, and hadn't noticed there wasn't one. He didn't seem to think he ought to be concerned."

ELLIOTT, WOOD, AND HEWLETT agreed there might be a need for expanded transportation services in Georgetown, but saw no possibility of immediate relief.

Elliott emphasized that there are no income restrictions on the van service. One need only be 55 or older and able to walk, he said, in order to qualify.

"We have focused most of our programs for the elderly on low-income residents," he explained, "but if Mrs. Scoggins was told her income disqualified her, that was a mistake. It might have been a misunderstanding on the part of our staff if that happened."

According to Elliott, the service is limited by the large area it must cover, namely the entire county, and the fact that only one driver is available for the van, and only 20 hours each week at that.

Elliott says the driver, Julius Young, who works through the Green Thumb public service program, has provided outstanding service.

But the van, funded by the federal government and administered through the Governor's Committee on Aging, must serve Georgetown, Taylor, Granger, Bartlett, and Round Rock in Young's 20 available hours each week.

That's a tight fit, asserts Elliott. "I'm sure we could probably run the service in Georgetown alone eight hours a day, five days a week," said Elliott, "but we just don't have the resources."

Williamson-Burnet County's records show the van transported 173 passengers during 96 hours of operation in May; 211 passengers over 88 hours of service in June; and 175 passengers during 96 hours operation in July.

AS FOR THE CITY SUBSIDIZING TRANSPORTATION for the elderly, City Manager Leo Wood said, "We really aren't large enough to justify entry into the mass transportation field. A city has to have about 40-50,000 population before that's justified."

Hewlett said the Chamber simply couldn't stir up any interest in a taxi service.

"After I talked with Mrs. Scoggins, we discussed the matter with the Chamber. We tried every way we could to let it be known we needed a taxi service."

"The major obstacle is insurance," Hewlett added. "Plus you've got to have an acceptable car and chauffeurs licenses for your drivers."

GLASSCOCK MANSION — "the perfect old Victorian house."

Georgetown to lose founder's mansion

A Georgetown landmark for longer than SUN readers can remember will be moved.

The old Victorian Glasscock mansion in the south triangle of the Highway 81 and Andice Road intersection has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Taylor of Round Rock and they hope to move it soon to some acreage between Georgetown and Round Rock on FM 1460 and restore it to its original grandeur.

The handsome old house was the home of George Washington Glasscock for whom Georgetown was named when he gave land for the town.

Mrs. Taylor works at the Round Rock Post Office and her husband works for an engineering firm in Austin. Their five year old son is looking forward to playing on the stately old staircase and its banisters.

The sale was handled by Mickey Forest when the Taylors made the purchase from Bob Stanton.

"The house is in remarkably good shape and movers tell us they will take the top off, lay the roof down, jack up the top story, move the first story to its destination, then go back and get the second story and just set it back on," Mrs. Taylor said. "We have been looking for years for the perfect old Victorian house; this is it."

Week's news in a nutshell

IF YOU PLAN A LABOR DAY HIGHWAY TRIP, the Texas Safety Association (TSA), advises at least one stop at one of the nearly 200 Texas Jaycee holiday rest stops.

TSA says such a stop can provide you the "rest of your life," defeating driver problems like highway hypnosis and delayed reaction time.

TAXPAYERS IN THE LEANDER SCHOOL DISTRICT crowded into the Leander High cafeteria Monday night to organize opposition to property revaluations distributed August 15.

After two hours of discussion led by attorney and Leander property owner Jack Garey, the group dubbed itself the "Leander Taxpayers Association," elected a ten-member committee to represent it before the school board, and set up a fund to cover any legal expenses arising from the dispute.

The audience also agreed to press a class-action suit if the Leander trustees cannot reach a compromise agreement with the taxpayers' committee.

WILLIAMSON COUNTY COMMISSIONERS voted Monday to seek a $15,000 grant from the Texas Criminal Justice Council to set up a central dispatch system, even though the system may only service the sheriff's department.

In submitting the original plan for a central dispatch, Jim Boutwell of Boutwell Aviation and Electronics suggested that by consolidating calls to the sheriff's department, city police departments, fire departments and the county ambulance service, tax dollars would be saved.

ENROLLMENT IN THE GEORGETOWN SCHOOL DISTRICT increased 153 students to 2333 on the first day of school, Tuesday, according to Superintendent Jack Frost. Last August, 2180 students enrolled in the district.

Frost described the day as "one of the smoothest opening days ever seen."

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

Friday morning there was a threat of a storm, for two days the area had been favored by heavy showers, early risers feel a definite hint of fall in the air and school is back in motion! I enjoy every change of season except from fall to winter. I like it warm, even hot. In the winter-time I get colds and sore throats.

FORTUNATELY, Central Texas lies in a moderate climate zone, although along about in January this seems debatable to folks here who haven't suffered through long, hard winters up north. I think we have it pretty good right here and wouldn't swap living conditions with many places in this country. I've been to San Francisco only once and confess that I was fascinated by that city and its climate. We were there in mid summer, as I remember, and the air was crisp and cool, but the sunshine was warm and healing. No one had window screens because there weren't any flies or other insects. The place, in fact, seemed ideal, although all this took place about 20 years ago when I was 30 years younger. Things look better when you are 30 years younger.

To enjoy the good life it really doesn't matter too much where one lives. George W. Truett, a Baptist preacher in Dallas, once sermonized: "Do your best; harm no one; read Ecclesiastes; feed the mind, rest the heart; follow and be faithful to that which is good; above all, put your trust in the Man up there." If we could live by those precepts in Dallas or San Francisco we could live by them in Georgetown.

Hair code welcomes students at new GHS

By Beulah Gilbreath

Students at Georgetown High School started classes Tuesday in a new $2.2 million building, but ran "HEAD" on into the same old battles.

New GHS Principal James Hundley estimated that "only 15 to 20 boys were sent home the first week of school to get their hair cut."

Students claim the number runs higher — 30 to 40 students. The principal declined to give an exact figure.

Hundley said some students were sent home during registration (running the figure up) and others were warned to have their hair cut before school began.

He commented that the policy exists (directed by the school board of trustees) and he strongly believes in enforcing policies.

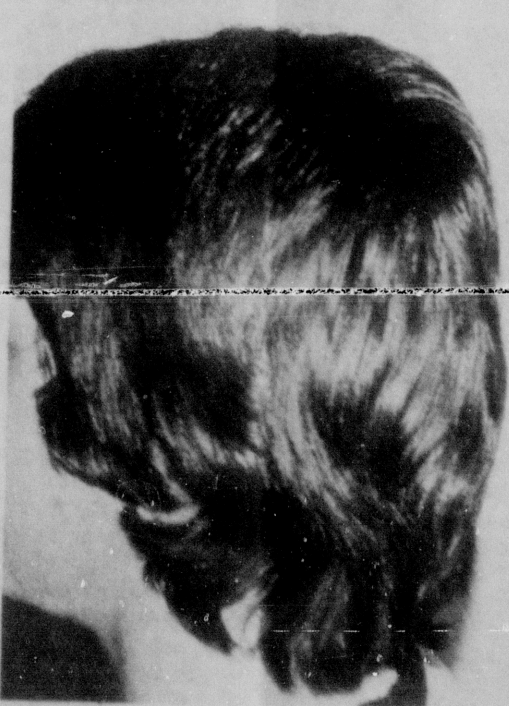

GHS student Handbook states: "In order to be properly dressed boys must have their hair well groomed. Boys should be clean shaven if at the age of shaving (no mustaches or beards). Extreme hair styles will not be tolerated. Sideburns are to be no longer than the bottom of the ear. Hair should not be completely covering the ear when combed down. The length in back should not be on or below the shoulder at the base of the neck."

One mother said a quarter inch of hair (so that the sensuous earlobe of her son will show) may be the cause of her son transferring to another school district.

"I pay taxes in Georgetown," she said, "why should I also be forced by a ridiculous regulation to pay tuition in order for my son to graduate?"

Her son quipped, "How can girls learn anything with their long hair? Doesn't their hair get in the way when they are trying to work algebra problems?"

Another mother (who said she didn't want her

BEFORE — Georgetown High School male senior sent home to have a quarter inch of hair cut.

AFTER — With ear lobe in plain view, the same GHS senior was allowed to return to classes.

name used because it would only mean more trouble with school administrators for her sons) said that she spent $25 last week to have her two sons hair groomed for school. Both were sent home from school this week. "This is 1975," she commented.

School Board member Dr. Douglas Benold said he was sorry to see the hair code issue come up again this year.

"The issue is a divisive sort of thing," said Dr.

Benold, who was the only board member who voted last January to eliminate the hair code.

At the December meeting of the school board, then GHS student Council President Johnny McMaster requested that an unlimited hair code be considered.

A poll conducted by the student council last fall determined that 68 percent of the student body favored the unlimited hair code.

At that meeting Dr. Benold said, "All through history women have worn their hair in many different styles such as the bob, the bouffant hairdos, etc. . . Not much was ever said about it."

"Suddenly in the last decade, we have attached some type of morality to the length of men's hair. I just want to go on record as saying that I would like to abolish the hair code. We didn't have any hair code when I was in school and we seemed to get along without it."

Benold said that his views have not changed. "I'm not a crusader," he commented, "but I will stand up for my principles. I don't think the hair code is worth the confusion it causes." The issue has arisen each year for the past few years.

Newly elected school board member (elected in April after the hair code decision) Clare Mashburn said Friday, "The hair code needs to be revised. I would like to see the student council come up with a dress code that could be enforced. Students should be able to decide the length of their hair."

She said administrators' salaries cost taxpayers too much for principals or assistant principals to spend their time measuring the length of a student's hair.

Mrs. Mashburn said she has received several calls from parents concerned about the hair code. She commented that students sent home were "not all trouble-makers, and some were excellent students who had never been involved in any disciplinary actions before."

School Board member Robert (Skip) Morse said he is in favor of a hair code. "However," he said, "I would be very much open to the students (coming to the board with a plan of their own that is maybe more liberal than the present one. I want the students to present logical reasons for

Fire protection, law enforcement, ambulance, and hospital services will be available, however.

Some groceries, drug stores, restaurants, and most filling stations in the city will also be open. The majority of businesses, though, will comply with the Chamber of Commerce request to observe the official national holiday.

The Georgetown Post Office will make no city or rural deliveries, but special deliveries will be mailed.

Daily papers and first-class mail will be boxed and a collection from the mailbox outside the Post Office will be made at 1 p.m. Monday.

THERE IS WORK TO DO

Are you getting fed up with hearing that the cause of crime is "joblessness" when you can't hire anybody to cut your grass?

ARE YOU GETTING FED UP with federal, state and local government handouts to people who are jobless? While it's next to impossible to hire workers to work?

That's good. Maybe if we stay angry — and vocal — through this next election campaign, rights organizations will stop profiteering on poverty and politicians will stop bleeding taxpayers to support parasites.

Have you any idea the kind of money we have dumped into Chicago's so-called "poverty neighborhoods"? Including your money, wherever you live, hundreds of millions of dollars. With no apparent improvement in the situation.

Cab companies have been advertising for cabdrivers in Chicago for more than a year. And a cabdriver in Chicago can make upwards of $200 a week.

Yet the headlines continue to quote sociologists who blame "unemployment" for the sickness of the cities.

SUBSIDIZED LAZINESS is the sickness of the cities! And it's worsened by politicians offering more and more something-for-nothing; by workers demanding more and more or they won't work at all; by government agencies and sticky-fingered social service agencies which dearly love to handle all those "government dollars."

Chicago alone has poured more than a billion of your dollars into welfare of one kind or another. And while we talk about it welfare grants are rising.

You can't separate all these welfare handouts from the employment statistics because it's this easy government money which mesmerizes potential workers. After 10 years of welfare handouts in Chicago unemployment has doubled!

Try to hire anybody in any city for housework, for yard work, for the picking-up and sweeping-out jobs. Man, we can't get people to do work-work for $150 a week when they can make more after-tax dollars than that by not working!

Just as there are jobs for the unskilled almost everywhere, there are jobs for the skilled, also, if they are industrious.

Graduates of Western Texas State University — with a reputation for being good workers — are offered more positions than they can fill.

SOMEBODY HAS TO SOUND OFF on loafers thumbing their noses and shaking their fists at TAXPAYERS.

It's too easy for politicians to purchase another period of peace and quiet by dishing out dollars to blackmailing leaders of some of the so-called "social service" organizations — under threat to riot.

It's as slimy a racket as Capone's ever was — but these Capones have the government on their side!

Bigness Isn't progress

Report from the Georgetown Independent School System that enrollment had increased by 153 students is proof positive that our community continues to grow. This many students indicate the presence of around 50 new families, a comfortable figure for a town our size.

PREDICTIONS THAT GEORGETOWN would have a population in excess of 30,000 by 1985 makes some, but not all, people happy. Growth that rapid would bring profound changes, many of which would be anything but desirable.

On the other hand, a brisk, gradual growth pattern is ideal and we hope the one we now enjoy continues indefinitely. Growth such as we had over the past year would lift the population figure to around 10,000 by 1985, and, as we see it, that would be just fine.

For most of the people living in a community rapid growth is not desirable. In fact, some places of exploding population are attempting to stem the tide. One state, in fact, is asking people to vacation there but "go home in two weeks." A California city of 30,000 — Petaluma — recently attracted national attention by winning a court decision on its rule limiting its growth to 500 new family housing units per year. Petaluma's victory has implications ranging far beyond its own borders. The court decision may encourage other suburban communities to set similar limits on their own building pace — taking care, of course, to use a reasonable standard of growth.

NOT LONG AGO progress was measured, to a very great degree, in terms of size. "If it was bigger it has to be better." Now, as if in reflection, people are turning from that concept and arguing that growth has little value in measuring the quality of life, which is the top priority. Georgetown, with a population of 15,000 ten or fifteen years from now, might not be the same pleasant place it was in 1960 when it had 6,000. On the other hand, it would be uncomfortable to live in Georgetown in 1985 if its population had dropped to 4,000. Morale would be low, services would be down, jobs would be scarce, wages and profits would be lower.

So, we do want growth but we are selfish enough to want it in the proper doses! Which seems to be what we are getting these days, making most of us healthy and happy.

A world new deal?

It can no longer be delayed. The industrial nations must confront the challenge of how to meet the rising demands of the "third world" for a better economic deal.

The drive of the poor nations for a so-called "new international economic order" is beginning to crank up in earnest. Nearly 80 "nonaligned" nations are meeting now in Lima, Peru, to coordinate attitudes for a United Nations session on economic development beginning Sept. 1. Later will come trade negotiations in Geneva and a resumed meeting of oil consumers and producers in Paris.

Will the United States and other industrial nations go into these forums with well-thought-out creative approaches? Or will they let the problems drift to a point of ugly conflict — as they have done until now?

The impatience of the third world grows with each day. The World Bank has just reported that one billion people in the poor countries did not increase their standard of living this past year, and for the rest of the decade their real income will grow less than 1 percent annually. Almost 650 million people have annual incomes of $50 or less.

It is such figures that make the third-world countries determined to change the relationship between the rich and the poor. They believe the rich have accumulated (and wasted) their wealth at the expense of the poor. As they try to modernize their economies, they want a voice in international economic decisionmaking.

Among their demands are curbs on multinational corporations, means of controlling foreign investments, higher prices for raw materials, better terms of trade, and financial and technological aid.

On the latter score, the rich countries, including the oil producers, are doing somewhat better than in the past. The World Bank also reports that aid from the industrial nations rose by 21 percent in the year ending June 30, making "the first significant reversal in the downward trend observed so far in the 1970s." At the same time it warns that the rise was "very little in real terms" because of inflation. Obviously much more needs to be done.

But what is perhaps needed most is a shift from aid to trade. As the bank indicates, the rich countries must liberalize their trade policies so that the poor nations can export more manufactured goods to them and earn more for their economic development. If tariffs against primary products are dismantled, it adds, the poor countries could earn half of the additional foreign exchange they need by 1980 to boost their growth rate to 6 percent.

The logic of such a course is inescapable. The industrial nations, which have long preached free enterprise, must be willing to accept the growing competition from the poor nations in manufactured goods while they shift to specializing in more sophisticated products which the poor countries cannot produce.

It is far from clear what positions the U.S. and other industrial nations will adopt on these and other complex issues. There is some encouragement in the fact that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has yielded to the developing nations and agreed to broaden the oil conference to discuss trade, raw materials, and possibly monetary reforms.

But it is not yet certain to what extent Washington is prepared to bargain on these matters and to move toward a whole new set of North-South relationships. In any event, the secretary will have an opportunity at the UN next week to set the kind of tone that will enable the rich and the poor to meet in a spirit of constructive negotiation rather than confrontation.

A burglar wrapped a broom in a towel and smashed a plate glass window of a Chicago jewelry store.

As hundreds of persons walked by on the busy street and others stood in line waiting for movie tickets, the burglar crawled through the broken door and started gathering up the jewelry.

Inside the store an alarm went off, summoning police. They arrived in time to catch the thief and cart him off to the slammer. But they were summoned only by the automatic alarm — not by a single telephone call from the observers. Neither did a solitary person attempt to corral the thief.

With an exploding crime rate and with 45 percent of the urban population saying they are afraid to walk the streets nearest their home at night, we have reached a state of emergency.

If the country — this city — is ever able to reverse this frightening and disgraceful criminal takeover, it will be through citizen involvement. We shall have to shed our anonymity and attack crime where it is happening — in the streets and in our homes. We shall need to organize "Neighborhood watches" or whatever type of co-operative efforts are needed.

The fact is this crime wave is gnawing at the vitals of civilization itself. If we wish to preserve a law-abiding society, we have no choice except to make our stand. — The Indianapolis News

NEW MAIN STREET BOOKSHOPPE — on the east side of the square opened its doors for business Friday and co-owner and manager Dianna Browning was busy meeting her new friends and neighbors. Dianna formerly managed the Book Stall in Austin before she partnered up with John Rogers to open the new store here. John has three Christian Education Supply stores in Austin. Dianna was born in Georgetown, went to school in Round Rock and has many relatives around Liberty Hill. Her favorite spot in the bright new store is back in the Old Books and Things corner. She will sell church, school and office supplies, new and used books, music, records, and many gift items. The store will be open 9-5 weekdays and 9-1 on Saturday. "We want to carry whatever books the people here want. I can special order any book. I invite everybody to come in, browse around and enjoy themselves in the store," Dianna said.

Singers to audition for Centex chorale

Following a successful 1974-75 season, the Central Texas Chorale, a mixed chorus formed in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University last year, will again offer an opportunity for singers in the area to join this choral organization. Undergraduate credit will be allowed chorale members.

Auditions, including the singing of a prepared piece of the singer's choice, are scheduled for Sept. 6 from 2:00-6:00 p. m. in the Killeen high school choir room and Sept. 7 from 2:00-6:00 p. m. in the Recital Hall of the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center at Southwestern University. An accompanist will be available for the auditions. The singer should list choral works and solo roles performed in the past.

MEAT SECTION VITAL TO SUPERMARKETS — Meats provide a low profit margin for supermarkets, but they are important to the supermarket's total business. Meat departments attract and keep customers, contends a marketing and food distribution specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Consumers place high importance on the quality and freshness of meats, and about 85 percent of all meats are sold through supermarkets. If a supermarket loses the consumers' meat dollar, it may well lose the rest of the grocery dollar, too.

TEXAS TOPS IN FARMLAND OWNERS — Texas boasts more farmland owners than any other state in the nation, says an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas has 267,000 of the 3.3 million farmland owners in the United States. The next leading states are Iowa and Illinois. Texas also leads in the number of nonfarm land owners, or landlords who lease their land to others, with 87,509. Individual Texas land holdings by both farmers and non-farmers average 584 acres compared to 329 acres for the national average.

The group will be performing classic choral literature, including works of Brahms, Handel, Mozart, and others. Kenny Sheppard of the music faculty in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University is the conductor of the choral organization. Nick Boltz, choral director in Killeen high school, is associate conductor. Dr. Ellsworth Peterson of the music faculty at Southwestern University is accompanist and also conducts an in-depth study of works to be performed.

Regular rehearsals are held from 7:00-9:30 on Monday evenings in the Recital Hall in the Alma Thomas Fine Arts Center at Southwestern University. The first rehearsal is scheduled for Sept. 8 with the initial fall concerts booked for Oct. 26 in Killeen and Oct. 27 at Southwestern University. Other concert dates will be announced later.

For auditions in Killeen, contact Nick Boltz (phones 817/699-5518 or 817/699-0392) and in Georgetown the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University (512/863-6511, ext. 329).

People who like to sing are encouraged to join the Central Texas Chorale, a choral organization of approximately 50 singers from the central Texas area.

Governor's First Lady organizes volunteers

Governor Dolph Briscoe has appointed Mrs. Jean Beasley of Austin as a regional volunteer coordinator for the First Lady's Volunteer Program. Office of the Governor. Mrs. Beasley will serve the geographic area covered by the Capital Area Planning Council.

In making the appointment, Governor Briscoe said, "The spirit of volunteerism is growing in Texas as more and more people seek ways to improve our society and the quality of life. When people see a need, they organize to solve the problem."

"The First Lady's Volunteer Program is encouraging statewide citizen participation in both government and private sector volunteer activities. As a regional coordinator, Mrs. Beasley will help stimulate new volunteer ideas and efforts in her community. She will also encourage the establishment of locally originated volunteer action centers to work with volunteer programs," Governor Briscoe added.

"Mrs. Briscoe and I are deeply committed to this volunteer effort and see many benefits from such neighbor helping neighbor involvement. Janey has agreed to work directly with this program in her capacity as First Lady," the Governor concluded.

In accepting the appointment Mrs. Beasley stated, "I am excited about the potential of this volunteer program. I am anxious to work with other interested people in my region on volunteer programs and look forward to working with Texas' First Lady."

As a volunteer, Mrs. Beasley has served as a member of the National Polio Foundation Board of Directors, the vice president of the Austin Council for Retarded Children, director of the Community Council Volunteer Bureau and co-director of the Hotline for Help. She is one of three Texans who serve as volunteer consultants for the National Center on Voluntary Action.

The First Lady's Volunteer

Program, a division of the Texas Center for Volunteer Action, is working with the Texas Department of Health Resources in planning a statewide health educational program for October. Designated as Immunization Action Month, volunteers will be mobilized to make all Texans aware of the need to be periodically reimmunized against polio, measles, mumps, rubella, diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough.

The First Lady's Volunteer Program conducted a pilot health project in the Lower Rio Grande Valley for the immunization of preschool age children. The Health Department reported more than 15,000 immunizations were given during the April, 1975, project period.

This division of the Governor's Office also is responsible for administering the national runaway hotline — Operation Peace of Mind — located in Houston. The hotline allows a runaway to call toll-free from anywhere in the United States and have a message relayed to anxious parents.

The Texas Center for Volunteer Action offices are located in Austin.

Baseball practice begins for Pirates

Baseball is a year-around affair at Southwestern University, and with spikes barely dusted off from last season Coach Jim Mallon is getting ready for an autumn practice season of seven games.

Mallon has much of the returning team that won 30 games and broke several records including hitting a team average of .308 and hitting an average of a home run per game — 48 — which was second in the nation among NAIA teams.

He will also have at least 10 newcomers trying out for a place on the Pirate team that finished second in Big State League play last year a half game behind Texas Lutheran College.

Among those Mallon has signed are: —Gene Lawhon, an infielder from Georgetown, whom Mallon rates high defensively. —Tim McKenzie, an outfielder from Dulles High in Houston.

—Steve Wendland, a right handed pitcher who had a 7-1 record at Wharton County Junior College last year.

—Ricky Tobalka, right handed pitcher from Concordia Junior College, 6-5 and 220 lb.

—Ricky Gravens, infielder from Abilene.

—Lane Holstrom, left handed pitcher from Austin, a transfer from the Univ. of Texas.

—David Stiba, second team all state selection at shortstop for Taylor High School last year. —Tim Rieg, an Austin Lanier product who can play first base or outfield.

—Bob Leonard, catcher from Athens with good throwing arm.

—Noel Seal, right handed pitcher from Alvin Junior College where he struck out more than one man per inning and had a 1.20 earned run average.

Other fall games that have been scheduled include:

FOOTBALL CONTEST

PICK THE WINNERS AND WIN A PRIZE

Here's How You Play:
HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November. So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $5, $3 or $1 for first, second or third respectively.
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

Our community received an inestimable amount of good publicity from our Fourth of July Festivities, as was evidenced by the fact that the name of Liberty Hill was readily recognized by everyone at The Blackeye Pea Festival in Athens the first week-end of August — many people voiced a desire and intent to come to our town! The Liberty Hill MARKET DAY, for which we proudly salute Ellis Posey, was held in its premier on the weekend of the Athens Affair, and it is very definitely doing great things for our community. I was glad to learn, a bit late, that Mary Cupples, a very good friend from over Andromeda way, and her Aunt were among the throng at the first Market Day. Mary was very impressed and pleased by the whole proceedings, and she particularly enjoyed visiting with Debbie Martin in the Liberty Hill Feed and Seed, and Rae Patton and Anita Farr in The Main Street Emporium.

The next Liberty Hill MARKET DAY will be staged on Saturday, September 6, and judging by the reception of the first one and the fact that the booths were going fast at an early date, we can expect another rousing success. Anyone who wishes additional information about Liberty Hill Market Day should consult Ellis Posey, Publisher of The Libertarian, at Liberty Hill. You can be assured that you will be enthusiastically WELCOMED in Liberty Hill — DO COME!

The Staff of Liberty Hill Elementary and Liberty Hill High School is now at a total of twenty-four Teachers who hold twenty-four Bachelors Degrees from fifteen different Institutions and seven Master's Degrees from five different Institutions; their total experience is an impressive two hundred and twenty-three years. The Staff of the Liberty Hill Elementary School includes Betty Allison, Charlene Burkett, Betty Carothers, Pat Colias, Sandy Cooper, Ann Hamilton, Louise Marcom, Louine Noble, Ann Sikes, Lorena Simpson, Martha Sledge, and Bobbie Yahr. The Junior and Senior High School Staff includes Michealle Able, Robert Bost, Kathy Burttschell, Eugene Buchhorn, George Dieck, Melvina Floyd, Rhanae Hoppe, Daryl Moffitt, George Prestridge, Sam Sikes, Robert Simpson and Marcella Zumwalt.

James (Bud) Perry is the Superintendent of Liberty Hill Schools. Eugene Buchhorn is the Principal of Liberty Hill High School, and Louine Noble is the Principal of Liberty Hill Elementary School. The total enrollment in the Liberty Hill School as of August 27 stood at 397 students.

Liberty Hill most undeniably has a very fine school system with a well qualified Staff of which we can all be quite proud. If you haven't visited our school recently, you should do so. I think that you too will be impressed by our school system.

MONDAY, September 1, is LABOR DAY and is a HOLIDAY for Liberty Hill School. The MENU of the Liberty Hill Cafeteria for the week of September 2, through September 5, will be as follows: Tuesday — Chicken dumplings, English peas, carrots, Jello, and milk; Wednesday — Enchiladas, salad, pinto beans, peaches, and milk; Thursday — Bar-B-Que on a Bun, salad, potato chips, brownies, and milk; Friday — Roast with gravy, potatoes, green beans, cherry cobbler, and milk.

Doug Bobbitt, his brother and his Dad are now living in Liberty Hill, and Doug and his brother are attending school here. Doug is a longtime friend of Yours Truly, and it's good to have him and his family in Liberty Hill.

The Panther Booster Club will have a booth at The Liberty Hill Market Day on September 6. Homemade Ice Cream, homemade Jams and Jellies and various other items will be for sale by the Panther Boosters.

Anyone who has any of this type things to donate to the Panther Booster Club should contact Mary Ann McLeod, Betty Brown or Jackie Weston — certainly, ALL DONATIONS will be deeply appreciated, and all of the proceeds will go toward paying for our fine new tennis courts at the school. We are proud to announce that the nets are up and the boundaries are marked off. The next item to be purchased is the fencing that will be used for the back stops. As soon as the fencing has been acquired, "We will need a bunch of volunteers to help put it up." Watch the Williamson County SUN for an announcement of the time when the work will be done.

The Panther Booster Club will have its next meeting at the school house on September 4, at seven o'clock in the evening. We URGE YOU "BE THERE!"

It is really good to have Louine Noble, our Elementary School Principal, as a new member of "THE SUN FAMILY" — thank you, Louine, for joining us.

Monday, September 1, is Labor Day, traditionally considered to be Summer's last holiday. We URGE YOU to have a good time, but above all we URGE YOU to BE CAREFUL and don't be a statistic!

KEEP SMILING!

Community Theater casting for 'Catch Me If You Can', new mystery production

A mystery, Catch Me If You Can by Jack Weinstock and Willie Gilbert is the frustrated Columbus' answer to boredom — and will be Georgetown Area Community Theater's next production.

Who is needed in the cast? Five men — a handsome, debonair 'ad man' in his early to mid-30's, high-strung and apprehensive about his wife; a devil-may-care detective who is Peter Gunn, Sam Spade and Columbo rolled into one; a questionable Catholic father, a well preserved 50-55 years old emitting calm like perfume; a deli owner of undetermined age who holds business above everything, including his own life; an 'older' ad man whose morals could be questioned by his real wife's lawyer.

Three women — a red-headed

'walk-on' who's there but not there; a beautiful blonde who's more interested in her weekend than murder; and a knock-out of a lady in her late 20's or early 30's, the outdoors type who's soft on the outside and hard as nails inside. Also needed are a stage manager, light crew, prop person, costume coordinator, set crew, house manager, box office personnel, a reservationist and no telling who else.

Tryouts will be held September 1, 2 and 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Georgetown Area Community Theater at 601

Austin Ave. Rehearsals will begin September 8 with the production running October 9, 10, 11 and 16, 17, 18. Those who can help or act, please come to tryouts or call director Karen Stevens at 863-2888.

James W. Brinson, Robert McKissick, Larry D. Presler, L. B. Wade, Edwin C. Vinther and Emmett A. Jones.

Urban Renewal to ask rezoning

Rezoning of two lots at Eighth and Timber streets will be requested by Georgetown's Urban Renewal Agency at two public hearings in September.

The agency will seek to have lots one and two in Block One of the South San Gabriel Urban Renewal Project changed from single-family residential to public use areas.

Hearings will be held by the city Planning and Zoning Commission at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and before the City Council's regular meeting September 8.

"The city wants to purchase the lots and place a new Neighborhood Center, city offices, and city warehouse parking space on them," explained Urban Renewal Executive Director Rodney Montgomery.

"It's a good use of the lots," he commented, "and a fence would be placed along the western boundaries to protect single-family residences west of the lots."

UT HONOR ROLL

Honor students in the School of Communications at The University of Texas in Austin have been named to the spring semester honor roll.

These include, from this area, Karen Ann Lundquist of Georgetown, Timothy R. Mossman of Leander, Buddy Adams of Georgetown, Linda Petrosky Simonson of Georgetown, June Brownlee Scogin of Leander and Treila LaTrelle Krueger of Hutto.

SAFE AND SECURE

How confidently he sleeps. Mother and Daddy are in the next room. Teddy Bear is right beside him.

We, also, desire a feeling of confident security. We want to do good and live with honor in this life, free of the fear of falling into sin. God wants this for us, too. And He sees and knows how hard we try.

In the New Testament, Jude writes, "God is able to keep you from failing, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy."

Pledge yourself to Him and attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Coleman Adv. Ser.

JONAH NEWS

BY MRS. MARY WAREINGTON

We have had one and a half inches of rain this week. It was really getting dry but farmers didn't want it to rain. They were really getting cotton out. Some of the cotton is making a bale or more to the acre. The Jonah Gin was going day and night.

Don't forget the Rubins-Barrington reunion this Sunday August 31 at Stone Haven Center in Georgetown. Come and bring a basket lunch. See you there!

Sgt. Robert Gibson of Alaska has been home recently. He is in the Navy and has been attending school in San Antonio. He returned home last Thursday and Frank Adams went home with him.

Mrs. Frances Brown and Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Holmstrom spent last Sunday in New Sweater and had lunch with their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lundgren.

Friends gathered to help Miss Margaret Johnson celebrate her birthday last Sunday night. Harwin Holmstrom's doctor from New Orleans, La. came to see him last weekend. Can you beat that? We are glad to hear Harwin is doing fine.

Don't know what went with the summer, and children are all back at school.

Doug Gattis is on the sick list. Mrs. Clint Hanson and Mrs. Raymond Pavlonek spent Wednesday at St. David's Hospital to be with Jimmy Coffman who underwent surgery.

I am surely going to miss Runelle Baker and Mrs. Gilbreath from the SUN office. Good Luck to them!

Have a Happy and Safe weekend.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
"But if anyone has the world's goods and sees his brother in need yet closes his heart against him, how does God's love abide in him?"

Kenny Sheppard conducts workshop

Kenny Sheppard, instructor in music education and choral music in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University, conducted a regional in-service workshop in choral music for secondary schools in August in Nilesburg, Mo. The workshop included vocal techniques and stylistic analysis of choral music.

Other engagements for Sheppard during the summer included his serving as guest clinician for the invitational junior high choir school sponsored by Oleson Junior College, consultant for the Spring Branch Independent School District (Houston) on the subject of junior high choral techniques, instructor in the Choral Music Institute in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University, and teaching summer music courses at the university.

NEW ADMISSIONS COUNSELOR — Betty Gilliland of San Antonio will serve as an admissions counselor for Southwestern University. Miss Gilliland, who will be visiting high schoolers in Texas and other states, is a graduate of Texas Tech University.

Sheppard has served as guest clinician - conductor in several choral festivals and has done extensive choral and solo judging. A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University with the Bachelor of Music degree and Texas Tech University with the Master of Music Education, he has been teaching music courses at the university.

S.U. names admissions counselor

Miss Gilliland has been named admissions counselor for Southwestern University. Grady Anderson, director of admissions, announced this week.

Miss Gilliland has just completed an "Admissions Practicum" at Trinity University and has already started work at Southwestern in building a freshman class for next year.

A graduate of Texas Tech, Miss Gilliland spent several months touring Europe last year and teaching school in San Antonio before accepting the post at Southwestern.

At Tech she majored in physical education and was a member of the varsity swim team and instructed swimming at the university and also participated in a number of intramural sports. She was also a volunteer in special education.

"This is a beautiful school with a lot to offer," Miss Gilliland says. "I love the beauty of the old buildings and how personable everybody is. I can hardly wait until the students get here so I can see how it all fits together."

In her position at Southwestern, Miss Gilliland will be traveling to many parts of Texas and neighboring states to visit high schools, churches, and families to inform prospective college students about what Southwestern University at Georgetown has to offer.

Betty Crocker scholarships available

College scholarships from $500 to $5,000 are available to all high school seniors through the Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living, now under way in its 2nd year.

Invitations to enroll in the program have been mailed to high schools across the nation. Schools new to the program may write the Betty Crocker Search, P. O. Box 12112, Minneapolis, Minn. 55440, for information.

Enrollment deadline is October 31, 1975. On Tuesday, Dec. 2, each participating school will administer a 30-minute written examination. Prepared and scored by Science Research Associates, Inc., Chicago, this general knowledge and attitude examination is the first important step of the scholarship program.

From the examination results a Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow will be chosen for each participating school.

School winners are acknowledged with special awards and their examinations are entered in state competition.

Each State Family Leader of Tomorrow receives a $1,500 college scholarship while every state second-place winner receives a $500 grant. State winners also earn for their school a 29-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation.

State winners, each accompanied by a faculty advisor, will be the guests of General Mills next spring on an expense-paid tour of Washington, D.C. A special event of the tour is an announcement of the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow, whose scholarship is increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth place national winners receive scholarship increases to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

The Betty Crocker Search is on the advisory list of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

I.C.A. schedules brucellosis hearing
There have been hearings held all over the state of Texas on the brucellosis problem and the final statewide hearing will be held on September 4, 1975 in Austin, Texas at the Sam Houston Building, Room 117 at 9:00 a.m.

The Independent Cattlemen's Association's Brucellosis Committee will be at this meeting. The State I.C.A. office feels that every county should be well represented at this meeting as this is a very important meeting to all cattlemen in the state of Texas as to what happens in the future on this program. Now is the time for county members to show their interest if they intend for I.C.A. to have a voice in what happens on the State and National levels. A good representation will be needed with a goal of at least 1,000 people there representing I.C.A.

Williamson County members are urged to do their part in attending and helping solve the problem.

Following this state meeting, there will be a meeting on November 1 of the National Animal Health Association and they will make the overall decisions.

INDOOR GARDENS FOR VEGETABLES — A variety of vegetables can be grown indoors by those who want to escape the hot summer weather and inclement weather that is sure to come in the months ahead. Among the most popular indoor vegetables are chives, parsley, peppers, tomatoes, leaf lettuce and radishes, says a vegetable specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Basic requirements for indoor gardening include suitable containers with good drainage, a good fertile soil mix, adequate water and a location with sufficient light for plant growth. Watering plants occasionally with a diluted fertilizer solution boosts production.

Meeting reaction varies

Reaction to escalation of property values in the Leander Independent School District ranged from calm optimism to outrage over the situation after the Monday night meeting of the "Leander Taxpayers Association."

Property holders protesting the recent reappraisal of the district, which attorney Jack Garey says raised individual valuations 10 to 25 times in some cases, filled the Leander High School cafeteria to discuss their plight.

The discussion continued vigorously even after the meeting officially ended.

"People here are mostly farmers, mechanics, workers," said MRS. RON JOINER, who explained her mother is a Leander property owner. "They just can't afford to pay the kind of money this revaluation would demand."

MRS. JIM BRENSON, whose husband was elected to serve on the Association's steering committee, commented, "We just bought a tract of land near Round Mountain Road for $4,000. You know what they valued it at? Eight thousand dollars. Can you believe that, $8000?"

BERNICE GIDDENS, on the other hand, didn't seem very excited.

"I think a solution can be worked out, and I think the best solution would be a compromise," remarked Giddens, who said he owns about 350 ranch acres in the district and traveled from Mexia to attend the meeting.

HAROLD PARKER, who also attended the meeting, was asked about his suggestion that the taxpayers could probably arrange to have the reappraisal, done by Professional Appraisal Company of Arlington, dismissed.

"Well, we did it when I was on the Georgetown school board," he said, "and not a word was said about it, because they knew they were wrong."

a change in the present code."

Dr. Benold who wears a short hair style, said he sees the whole thing as a part of the generation gap. "A majority of young people want to wear their hair longer than a majority of the school board members want to allow them to wear it," he said in summary.

Principal Hundley said he was satisfied with the current policies. When questioned, he said that Levelland High School, where he was assistant principal last year, abolished its hair code in 1970.

Rural water line ready for service

Phase Two of the Jonah Water Supply Corporation's rural distribution system has been completed and is ready for service, Corporation manager Brad Henry announced Monday.

Henry said the system, including approximately 100 miles of pipeline north of the San Gabriel River, was approved by the state health department during the past weekend.

Water will be pumped from two wells to about 215 Corporation members in the Walburg-Weir area, Granger, and Bartlett.

One of the wells is located three miles south of Georgetown along the Hutto Road, the other at Walburg.

Corporation president Carl Lidell said Jonah Water Supply is a cooperative association, and explained that customers must become members of the Corporation.

"We hope eventually to connect with Jarrell and Schwertner too, and we'd like to hook up with Georgetown so there will always be a backup system if anyone's water supply fails," said Lidell.

Phase Two of the pipeline project required eight months and $945,000 to complete.

During the first phase, 125 miles of pipe was installed in the southern part of the county.

The completed distribution system is expected to serve 625-650 Corporation members.

Leander school board hears enrollment reports

Leander school trustees were told Thursday night that Ada Mae Faubion elementary school, the district's new "open-concept" facility, has already enrolled 30 more pupils than it was built to accommodate.

Principal Travis Henry reported to the school board at its regular meeting that Faubion had 530 enrollment in grades K-6, with the school designed for 500 capacity.

Leander Elementary reported a 479 enrollment, and Leander High had 673 students.

The trustees approved amendment of the 1974-75 school budget to show expenditures totalling $2,176,602. Last year's budget estimate had set at $2,009,165.

Leander business manager John Thurman said the major additional expenditure was $160,000 in construction costs, to be paid through bonds.

Fritz Scheutzeberg, transportation and maintenance director, reported to the trustees that 14 school buses are operating, and all air conditioning and lighting in school buildings are functioning. Schuetzeberg also said that bleachers alongside the Leander football field had been repaired.

In other action, the board heard a letter of thanks from Mrs. Ada Mae Faubion for its part in the establishment of the school named for her, and Supt. Dr. Jack Warner reported that the Leander marching band had increased from 32 members last year to 82 for 1975-76.

After executive session, the board voted to hire 18 bus drivers, six custodial employees, a mechanic's helper for the transportation department, and two employees for the maintenance department.
